Elmer Gantry Sinclair Lewis

In 'Elmer Gantry', Sinclair Lewis adds a violent stroke to his growing picture of materialistic America. Elmer Gantry is "converted" in his college days during a revival, and subsequently ordained a Baptist minister. After many experiences, including a year or more in the train of Sharon Falconer, a woman evangelist of dubious reputation, and adventures in various forms of religious charlatanery in the hope of quick financial returns; he becomes at last the pastor of a flowering Methodist church. By successful advertising methods in the best Babbitt tradition, he becomes a power in the community. Elmer Gantry, hypocrite and voluptuary, is painted against a background of church members and professing Christians scarcely less hypocritical than he.
